SENIOR READERS

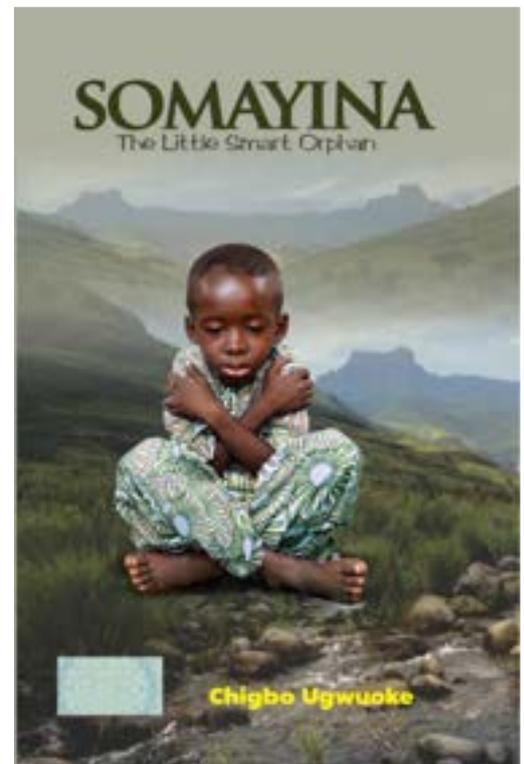

Sacrilege

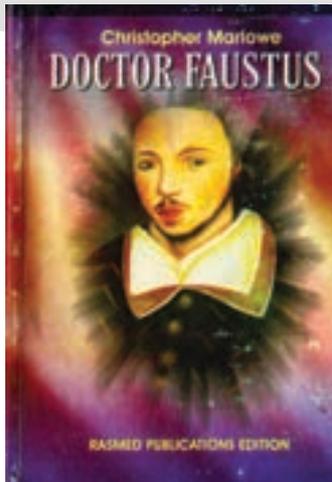

Sacrilege is a play that projects the traditional African culture. King Adelegan rides on the vehicle of the tradition of his people to become their king but later chooses to desecrate same. Propelled at the immediate level by the false information from his daughter and remotely by his blind embrace of western culture and disdain for his people's belief, he does the unspeakable. The consequences are what stands out the play as one projecting its convictions.

SOMAYINA

One after the other, a young couple dies, leaving behind a toddler called Somayina. At age seven, this adorable little orphan is returned to the village, to live with his father's mother. Everyone is afraid of this weird, old woman, but Somayina is fascinated by her unkempt hair, bushy grey eyebrows and overgrown nails. He loves his life with his grandmother. He plays in the sunshine, growing up amongst the goats and birds. But this fantastic life was cut short. Like a fish from the river, he was removed from his grandmother and made to live with strangers. He can't fit into city life; he is missing his grandmother so much. Will he ever find his way back to his grandmother in the tranquil hilly village? As the little orphan muses over all these in heart, something strange happens that gets him even more confused.

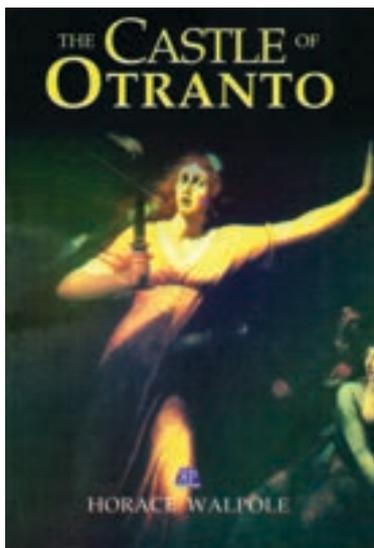

Doctor Faustus

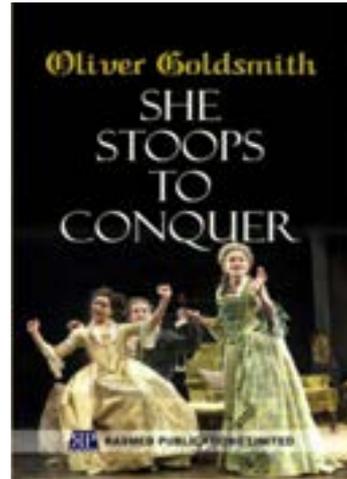

The play provides an excellent vehicle for the introduction of Renaissance Literature into the secondary school curriculum. It also serves as a means of introducing the elements of literary criticism to secondary school students. Moreover, the life of the author Christopher Marlowe, as well as the life of the tragic hero, Dr. John Faustus provide a strong basis for moral lessons on decisions and consequences.

The Castle of Otranto

The young prince Otranto is crushed to death in a mysterious accident in the morning of his wedding day. His father, Prince Manfred then decides to divorce his wife and marry the bride himself. He would give it all it takes to defy prophesy to produce another heir. Will he succeed with his plans? Find out in the book...

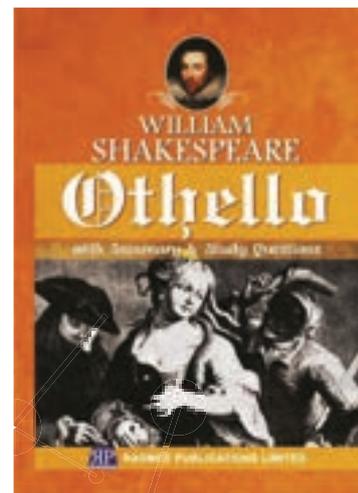

She Stoops to Conquer

She Stoops to Conquer is one of the most performed eighteenth century plays, unanimously enjoyed for its amazing and deep insight into human psychology and behaviour.

It is immensely rich in comic situations, lively characterisation and amusing language. It is a classic example of a laughing comedy with an enduring appeal.

Othello

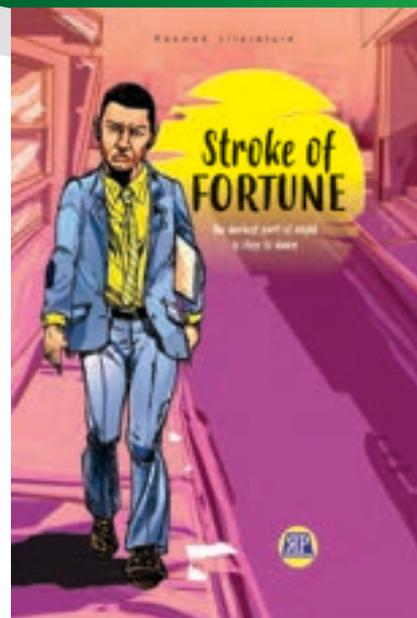

Othello, written approximately in 1603 as originally based on an Italian short story Un Capitano Moro (A Moorish Captain) by Cinthio, was published in 1565. The story of 'Othello' revolves around four central characters. Othello a Moorish General in the Venetian army, his wife Desdemona, his Lieutenant Cassio and his trusted ensign, Lago. It is based on the theme of racism, love, jealousy and betrayal.

Stroke of fortune

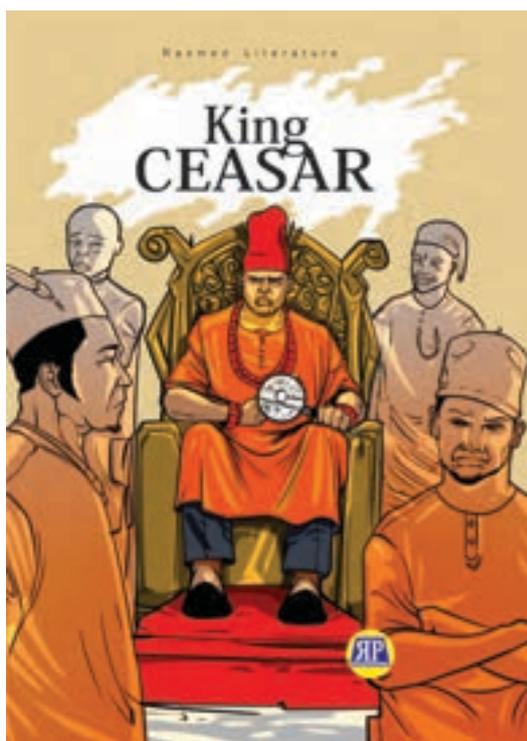

George has tried everything possible to put an end to the deadly battle over the King's throne in Ramah. Now to succeed, he might need the help of the intelligent school girl, Ferina.

Ferina really wishes to help in solving the murder cases in her town, but when her dear father's life is at stake, she has to choose between being a hero or keeping her father alive. Did Ferina help George to unravel the dilemma? Grab a copy of Silent Night.

Abiodun is a kind, loving, caring, intelligent and handsome man. After his National Youth Service Corps he started searching for jobs but unfortunately for him, he finds no job. He did many interview, wrote application letters but all are in vain.

One fateful day, he went to Abuja for interview but on his way back he had an accident. Find out more.

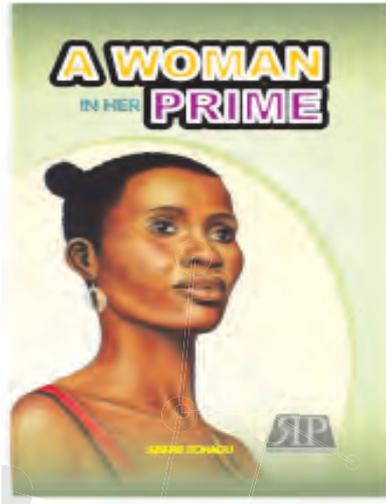

King Caesar

“King Caesar” is a play that dramatically unveils the eponymous character called King Caesar, who ruled the Kingdom of Obigbo. The King, after the expiration of his tenure, has to leave his position to his son as the law of the land demands. Unfortunately, his wife, the queen of Obigbo, did not give birth, so there is no crown-prince to take over the throne.

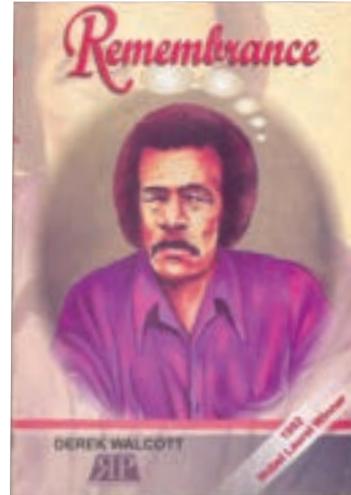

The play also contains some fictitious characters who pivot the plot till the end. These characters are hell-bent to take over power from the king by all means. What happened after he renounced his throne? Do they succeed in their coup? Find out about this and more in this interesting play.

A Woman in Her Prime

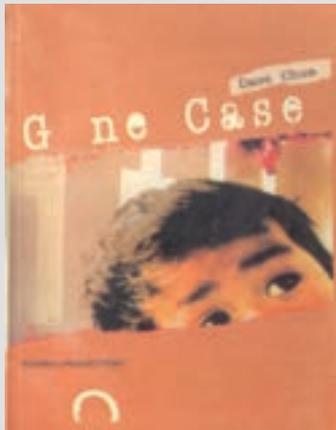

In the small Ghanaian village of Brenhoma, Pokuwaa, though successful farmer, true happiness eludes her. To have reached the middle age without a child is considered a grave misfortune in her community. What did she do? Did she get her happiness back? Find out in

Remembrance

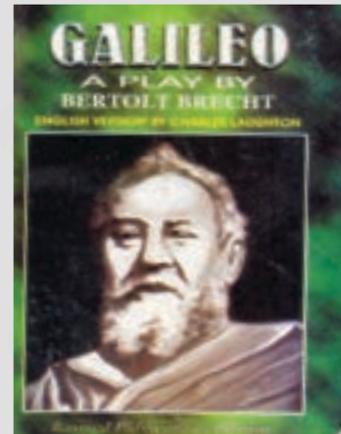

Remembrance is the story of an elderly black teacher and writer, Albert Jordan who cannot reconcile his anachronistic love of British Culture with the exploitation of his family and community in independent Trinidad. Get a copy of the book to digest the story.

Gone Case

A touching yet unsentimental story about growing up in Singapore seen through the eyes of Yong, a 12-year-old, who experienced the paradoxes of life even if he did not always understand everything. Between the rigorous demands of school and taking care of his younger sibling, Yong deals with the death of Ah Por, upheavals in his family, run-ins with the neighbourhood gang leaders, infatuation and finally, the end of a friendship.

Galileo

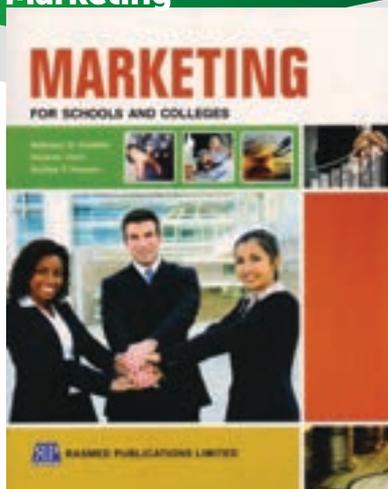

Galileo is a drama book which revolves round a great scientist called Galileo. The play is a tragicomedy of heroic combat followed by unheroic capitulation. The 140-page book, translated to English Language by Charles Laughton, shows Galileo's contribution as a self-reliant who attempted to change the world and then quit.
